Centers of German Industry Attacked by RAF, U. S. Planes

Possibly 600 Bombers Take Part in Raids During Night

London, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Nurnberg, a great war industries center and the rally ground of Hitler's Nazi party, and the Saar steel center of Saarbruecken were attacked heavily by a strong force of British bombers—possibly 600—which left large fires burning in both cities last night.

The heaviest assault was on Nurnberg, the Air Ministry said. Thirty bombers were lost from the "large force" of perhaps several hundred, many of which packed eight tons of explosives.

Objectives in northern France were raided by the smaller and swifter fighters during the night. (Berlin broadcasts said 39 British planes were shot down in all operations last night and yesterday.)

The RAF bombers flew nearly 500 miles to reach Nurnberg, deep in southern Germany. Saarbruecken is on the French border. The assault was the third this week against German industrial centers. Thursday night a force of approximately the same strength smashed at the former Polish port of Gdynia, only a few miles west of Danzig on the Baltic sea, and at Kassel, a locomotive-building center. Monday night Wiesbaden and Frankfurt were the targets. Nurnberg is the home of the Nan tank factory and has a large aluminum works manufacturing piston rods and castings. The Siemens-Schuckert factory there makes heavy electrical equipment.

Is Railroad Center
The quaint old German city is also an important railway center and has large repair shops for locomotives and rolling stock. Saarbruecken is in the center of some 70 square miles of coal mines. It has gigantic iron works and steel mills.

Royal Canadian Air Force fliers on the raid said conditions were so nearly perfect last night that every detail of the streets and buildings of Saarbruecken stood out in relief.

We took three runs over the target before dropping the stuff and just couldn't miss," one pilot said.

In addition to the massive RAF assaults, the Germans have suffered under daylight precision raids in occupied territories by Flying Fortresses of the United States Air Force.

Yesterday the Fortresses raided Meule, an important airplane center in northern France and

New Legislation to Hold Living Costs Thought Necessary

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Some congressmen, expecting President Roosevelt's Labor Day message to outline a drive to hold down the cost of living, said today they did not see how that goal could be achieved without new legislation.

Although the president indicated at a press conference yesterday that he hoped for a flexible rather than a rigid stabilization of wages and farm prices, the lawmakers preferred to hear his proposal before commenting.

Roosevelt plans to follow up his message to congress with a radio address discussing the questions involved. Within the coming week, the department of justice is expected to give him a summary of the extent of his war time powers to proceed by executive orders.

With the nation's biggest tax bill still being written, there was evidence of general relief on Capitol Hill at "indications the president might exercise the powers of his office to keep the price of necessities within reasonable bounds.

One senator said he believed that new legislation along that line was out of the question before the general elections. And even after election day, he added, it was unlikely that congress would agree to restrict either wages or farm prices without restricting both.

4 Kings, Queen Attend Duke of Kent's Funeral

London, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Four kings—George VI of England, Haakon VII of Norway, George II of Greece and Peter II of Yugoslavia—and Queen Wilhelmina of Holland attended a simple funeral service for the Duke of Kent at St. George's chapel at Windsor today.

The Duchess of Kent entered with Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mother Mary, and the former helped the Duchess up the steps to the choir stalls. All three wore heavy crepe veils.

The Duchess sobbed throughout the brief rites, and as the coffin was lowered to a purple bier she sank to her knees in prayer.

King George of England with tears in his eyes, moved forward and sprinkled earth on the coffin as it descended slowly into the vaults.

It was the first funeral for a member of the Windsor family to lose his life in active service in this war. The Duke, youngest brother of the king, was killed in Scotland in the crash of a plane which had set out for Iceland on a military mission.

Merchant Ship Burns in Delaware River

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A medium-size merchant ship tied up at a Delaware river pier burned for almost four hours early today, then capsized from the weight of water sprayed into it by four fire companies and a fireboat.

The flames broke out shortly after 11 a. m. (CWT) in the bow below deck, burst through and raced toward the stern despite emergency efforts of the captain and crew of 14. In 10 minutes the entire ship was ablaze.

Five crewmen were burned, one was cut and four were made ill by smoke. Ten firemen also needed hospital treatment.

Origin of the blaze was undetermined.

Heavy Fighting in New Guinea; Allied Airmen Pound Japs

Veteran Australians in Action, Supported by U. S. Air Forces

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Fighting appeared to be growing in intensity today along the muddy shores of Milne Bay as veteran Australian troops battled with effective United States air support against Japanese forces attempting to consolidate a shaky grip on the southeastern tip of New Guinea.

A communique from General MacArthur's headquarters said the Australians were in close contact with the recently landed Japanese and described the fighting as "heavy."

A small number of United States service troops were reported in the battle area, but the allied fighting forces were said to be composed of tried Australian Imperial and militia.

Allied medium bombers, piloted by Americans and escorted by Australian airmen in fighter planes, were raking the beach heads established by the Japanese and the communique reported that "numerous fires were started."

The Japanese apparently filtered into the forbidding jungle where they were engaged by the Australians.

A spokesman said the weather, which had slowed the early progress of the land and air battle, was "better now," but the troops still were fighting in heavy mud.

The battle was proceeding several miles from the head of Milne Bay along the north shore.

Japs Take Mauling
While there was no indication of how the land fighting was going, a recapitulation of allied communique issued during the past week showed that the Japanese air force has been taking a severe mauling in the Australian theater.

According to these bulletins, the Japanese have lost 42 of their famed Zero fighters, four heavy bombers and two divebombers since last Sunday. Allied losses

Nazis Call Dieppe Raid an Invasion

Berlin (From German Broadcasts) Aug. 29.—(AP)—The German high command said in a special communique today that 2,195 allied prisoners were taken during the Commando operation at Dieppe Aug. 19 and asserted the raid actually aimed at establishing a continental bridgehead in preparation for an invasion of France.

The allied raiding force left more than 600 dead behind when they returned to England, the high command stated, adding that bodies were washing in daily from the channel. German losses in dead, wounded and missing were placed at 597.

The communique said allied "order of operation" was found on a captured British staff officer, proving that the landing attempt was more than an "ordinary Commando raid" and that it was intended to establish an invasion bridgehead.

(The British Broadcasting Corp. advised the French people before and during the raid that the operation was not an invasion.)

The German communique said the British losses in the action included 127 planes, four destroyers, two torpedo boats, one speedboat, seven transports and a number of landing boats.

German losses were placed at 35 planes and one submarine chaser.

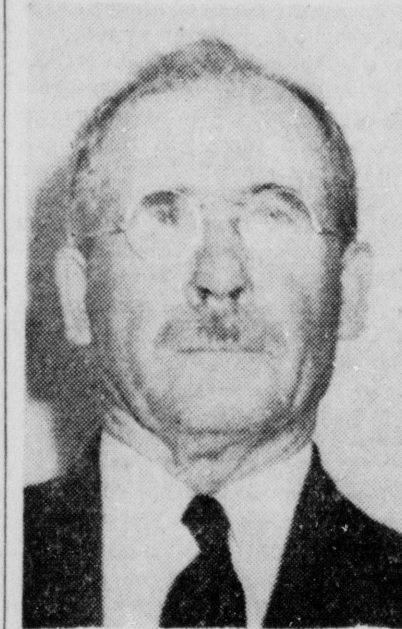

Rents on All Housing Accommodations in Lee County Cut to March 1st Rate

Chicago, Aug. 29.—(OWI)—Fremont M. Kaufman, a practicing attorney at Dixon, Ill., for the past 10 years, has been named rent director of the Dixon defense rental area (Lee county) by Price Administrator Leon Henderson. The appointment was announced by Benjamin Baltzer, regional rent director in the Chicago office.

A graduate of the University of Chicago where he received his law degree, Kaufman is a native of Lee county where rent on all dwelling units becomes effective next Tuesday, September 1. Under provisions of the rent regulations, rents on all housing accommodations are cut back to the rates prevailing on March 1, 1942.

The Dixon rent office will be located at 121 Galena avenue. Tenants in that area are advised not to pay any more rent for the same living quarters than was paid last March 1, the maximum rent date, Baltzer said. Any change in that amount must be based on a strong claim from either the landlord or tenant, and must have the approval of the rent director.

Prize Contest to Boost Register of Voters Is Planned

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Governor Green and other state officials and GOP state candidates have decided to inaugurate a prize contest in which several thousand dollars worth of war bonds will go to GOP county chairmen and precinct committeemen whose districts produce the highest registration of voters for the Nov. 3 election under the new statewide voters' registration law.

Details are yet to be worked out, but officials said the prize fund probably would be larger than the $5,500 originally proposed by State Treasurer Warren Wright. The plan contemplated a newspaper advertising campaign to acquaint voters with the necessity of registering to establish their voting eligibility.

It will be known as the "Republican State Officers and Candidates' Plan" and Leslie P. Volz, executive secretary of the governor's state patronage committee, has been named treasurer.

Treasurer Wright said he offered to contribute $500 to the prize fund, and suggested that other GOP elected state officers and party state ticket candidates do likewise.

He proposed a $500 top prize for the county chairman whose county shows the highest proportionate registration above the number of votes cast for all candidates for governor in the 1940 election.

Numerous smaller prizes would go to precinct committeemen. The plan was suggested by Wright as one method of spurring vote registrations.

60 Russian Planes Attack Helsinki

Helsinki, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Finnish communique today said 60 Russian planes attacked Helsinki in waves late yesterday in the heaviest raid ever attempted upon the Finnish capital.

The communique said only two planes penetrated the defenses and only a few bombs were dropped. Five persons killed and 20 injured, it said.

Hurl Back Attacks on Two Fresh Nazi Shock Divisions

Dead Men of Invading Legions Piled High on Sandy Steppes

Moscow, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Soviet troops have hurled back German attacks both above and below Stalingrad by vigorous counter attacks, but enemy tanks and infantry are wedged deeply into the city's defenses in another sector and the Nazi command has moved two fresh divisions into action, the Russians said today.

Dead men of Adolf Hitler's legions were reported piled high on the sandy steppes before Soviet trenches and the government newspaper Izvestia described prisoners as hungry and almost exhausted.

Red Star said the Germans were having difficulty supplying their tanks with fuel. At one place, along the Don front, 700 tanks were reported halted because of a gasoline famine and Russian bombers destroyed many of them.

The British radio said the Russians in their great counter-attack on the central front had captured the Rzhev airdrome and cut an important road linking German positions. Fighting in Rzhev was said to be proceeding from house to house.

Crisis Is Apparent
Nevertheless, a major defense crisis was apparent.

A Nazi tank division and one more infantry division maneuvered into position after a forced march from the Don bend, bridgeheads, and aerial transports, bringing the skies with fighters and Stukas, brought up hundreds of other Germans.

Some of these dropped as parachutists behind the Russian lines. Automatic gunners duelled in the areas between fortified positions. Smoke spiraled up from bombed areas of Stalingrad.

The government declared 2,800 Germans, Rumanians and Italians dead in a vain attempt to hold one wedge under Russian counter-attacks northwest of the city.

Red army men were declared bearing up under mass bombings and their sharp flanking blows southwest of Stalingrad were reported to have put the Germans on the defensive.

The sector of the deep German penetration was not identified, but the implication was that it was west of the town.

Russian forces were reported to have struck heavily at axis columns during increased assaults upon German fortifications in the upper Volga bog lands near Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow.

Behind Smoke Screens

Soviet companies still hold the northern section of Rzhev, a Pravda dispatch said, and are striking at the Germans behind plane-laid smoke screens.

The Red navy and supporting warplanes were credited with the destruction of four more axis vessels, a submarine in the Black sea, a transport in the Baltic and two transports totaling 12,000 tons in the Barents sea.

Numerous prisoners were declared by the army newspaper Red Star to have been captured on the central front, where Field Marshal Model was reported in charge of Nazi defenses as commander of the ninth army.

Poles Surrender
Among the prisoners was a group of Poles who had been forcibly inducted into the German army, the army paper said. They surrendered voluntarily, bringing a machinegun with them, it added.

(German dispatches broadcast by the Berlin radio said strong Soviet tank forces were counter-attacking before Stalingrad and some Red armored vehicles had been buried as stationary firing points "further to strengthen their deeply echeloned defense positions," but declared the Nazis had gained from the west.

(Furthermore, the Berlin radio declared the invaders had reached the Caspian sea in a 140-mile thrust across the Kalmyk steppes from Elista toward Strakhan, Soviet shipping center on the estuary of the Volga river.)

German attempts to cut deeper into western Caucasian defenses south of Krasnodar were declared frustrated.

BERLIN'S CLAIMS
Berlin (From German Broadcasts) Aug. 29.—(AP)—Fierce Soviet attacks up and down the line from embattled Stalingrad to the shores of Lake Ladoga were reported today by the German high command, but all were declared to have been repulsed in heavy fighting.

German forces are continuing their own attacks against strong fortifications in the Stalingrad area and have repelled Russians

Engineer Killed in Crossing Collision in Rochelle Friday

Burlington's Streamlined Zephyr Hits Truck, Laden With Iron

Dr. Jesse C. Akins, of Forreston, Ogle county coroner, scheduled an inquest at the city hall in Rochelle this afternoon into the death of Wesley Boyer, 60, Aurora, engineer of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad's Zephyr, who was killed instantly when his train struck a truck on the route 51 crossing in Rochelle at about 4:40 o'clock Friday afternoon. A member of the train crew was injured and several passengers were shaken up by the collision.

Boyer's body was pinned in the wreckage of the Zephyr's cab, and workmen using a blow torch needed nearly two hours to cut away the wreckage and remove his body. The front of the engine was shoved back eight feet by the impact of the crash.

Alvin Muse, 52, of Aurora, another crew member, suffered an injured right leg, and was removed to Lincoln hospital in Rochelle. Some of the passengers suffered minor cuts from broken windows and bruises, but none required hospital attention.

Truck Driver Unhurt

Everett Kirby, 40, of Kokomo, Ind., driver of the truck, escaped injury. The cab of the truck, loaded with iron pipes and scrap steel, already had crossed the tracks, and the trailer section was struck by the front of the Zephyr, Kirby was traveling south on route 51 when the accident occurred.

Kirby said warning lights at the crossing were not operating at the time, and that he did not see the train until after his vehicle had reached the tracks.

The Zephyr was westbound on its trip from Chicago to Minneapolis. Parts of the trailer and its contents were strewn along the tracks, and the iron pipes which were a part of the cargo struck every one of the eight coaches on the train, damaging several windows and in some cases penetrating the aluminum sides of the coaches.

Body Badly Crushed

A truck and chain also were used to pull away part of the front of the Zephyr's cab to permit removal of Boyer's body. Both of Boyer's arms were broken above the wrist, both legs were broken and his chest was crushed. Force of the crash forced the train's instrument panel backward and into the body of the engineer.

The train was stopped six blocks past the scene of the crash. At a point 200 feet west of the accident, a telephone pole was broken in two places, and the top bars were left hanging on wires.

Rail Traffic Held Up

Traffic on the C. B. & Q. road was held up for two hours, until the Zephyr, pulled by a steam locomotive, headed out of Rochelle. Two other passenger trains were delayed for some time.

The Zephyr remained on the tracks, which were undamaged. Several soldiers who were passengers on the train assisted authorities in directing traffic and clearing the crowd of spectators.

All of the passengers, with one exception, remained on the train until it resumed its trip to Minneapolis. Albert F. Madlener, Jr., of Chicago, son-in-law of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Oregon, left the train after the crash and

The War Today!

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst
(Telegraph Special Service)

The Hitlerite claim to have planted the Nazi flag atop Mount Elbrus, highest peak in the lofty Caucasus range, or in all Europe for that matter, has aroused a great deal of curiosity and I've been asked to explain the significance of this garish exhibition.

Well, it presents an interesting study in Prussian psychology. Perhaps one might better describe it as a psychopathic problem, since it has to do with the psychosis which has resulted in the Deutschland-uber-alles mentality and the more recent belief in the superhuman qualities of the Aryan race. Here it should be said in fairness that this mountain-climbing stunt isn't entirely due to the march hare fanaticism which produced that horrid abnormality known as nazism. It has no military importance, of course, because if it was carried out at all it was by a handful of mountaineers. Still, it isn't a bad bit of advertising.

The idea of such a feat is (1) to demonstrate that the reich always is on top, (2) to create in the other fellow an inferiority complex which has him forever looking up at the Prussian. In some quarters that type of propaganda works.

Still, the propaganda angle is only an incidental part of the story and in order to develop our thesis we should take a further look at the Nazi mountain-climbing penchant. Elbrus isn't the first height they have scaled in this war, or before it. They're always climbing—and they're good at it.

One of the first things they did on entering Paris was to mount to the top of Eiffel tower and fly the swastika. Not satisfied with that, they stuck their flag on Napoleon Bonaparte's grand arc de triomphe.

When the Nazis stormed their way into Greece last year they immediately hot-footed it to the home

"Dead Germans Are Harmless" Says Russian Woman Who Has Killed 309

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Liudmila Pavlichenko, who studied history and dreamed of becoming a scholar, practiced sniping at Rumanians and then settled down to the serious business of killing Germans when her Soviet Russia went to war.

The Red Army lieutenant told her story yesterday at the Soviet embassy—a story that credited her with killing 309 Germans.

A stocky 26-year old Ukrainian, she said she studied at Kiev University in 1937. But the next year, when trouble was brewing, she matriculated at a snipers' school.

Then came the war. "I was a soldier like the rest and took part in the defense of Odessa," she explained through an interpreter.

"I lay there and watched the Rumanians dig themselves in," she continued, "only 300 or 400 yards away. We were strictly forbidden

See Meatless Days as Way of Sharing Supply With Allies

Would Also Trim Ship Loss by Use of Lanes Considered Safer

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Because it is closer to the European battleground than most other sources of supply, the United States may have to share a larger portion of its meat—with American armed forces overseas and with Great Britain than previously expected.

This is the implication of a statement by President Roosevelt yesterday that Americans may be asked to observe a meatless day each week. Meatless days would be one-way of reducing American consumption to make larger supplies available for movement across the Atlantic.

The United Nations have four major sources of meat supplies. Besides the United States, they are Argentina, Australia and New Zealand. The United States is much nearer to Great Britain than any of the others.

Consequently, if a part of the supplies now being obtained for

436 Commissions to WAAC Officers

Fort Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 29.—(AP)—With two generals participating, 436 WAACs swore today "to well and faithfully discharge their duties" and were commissioned as the first officers of the Women's Auxiliary Corps.

All of the women were commissioned third officers, which is the WAAC equivalent of army second lieutenants.

"You will be soldiers. You will measure up to the honor. You have a great responsibility," declared Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass) in her graduation address, prepared for the commissioning ceremony.

A review of most of the 1,700 WAACs now at the post preceded the commissioning, which was witnessed by WAAC director, Oveta Culp Hobby.

Maj. Gen. J. A. Ulio, adjutant general of the army, administered the oath to the new officers, while Maj. Gen. Frederick Uhl, commanding general of the Seventh Service Command, handed diplomas and commissions to the women.

by the command to shoot without his permission."

"She asked permission to fire."

"Are you sure of hitting them?" she quoted the commander.

"Yes," she replied.

"I got a grip on myself," she resumed. "I forced myself to be steady and cool, took careful aim and fired. I waited for a fraction of a second; another head appeared over the top. I got that one, too."

Of the Germans, she said: "They are not simply murderers. They are tyrants, sadists, tormentors. Every German who remains alive will kill women, children and old folks. Dead Germans are harmless. Therefore, if I kill a German I am saving lives."

Lieut. Pavlichenko said the Germans knew her name and threatened to tear her to pieces after failing to win her over to their side with offers of "plenty of chocolate."

Building Improvements

SMALL HOMES • STORES • APARTMENTS • MODERNIZATION

by PAUL T. HAAGEN A.I.A.

HOME DESIGNS

Climate and Space Must Be Given Consideration

While you may have a very definite idea how you would like the exterior of your home to appear, do not forget that your house is built to live in and therefore the house should serve your family in convenience, comfort, adaptability and living habits, to the greatest degree. These requirements, together with climatic conditions, the contour, orientation and character of the site, will determine how the rooms should be placed, and gradually a plan evolves that is suited to your needs and adapted to your property, the climate and your living conditions.

Arrange your required rooms in a plan that will give you the maximum of living comfort and convenience, east of housekeeping, charm of interior appearance and a hospitable air. Then let the exterior design of the house grow out of the plan. It is an axiom that a good plan will produce a satisfactory elevation or exterior design, and one in good architectural style. If your plan grows logically, you will probably secure a much more livable home, it will have an individuality of its own, and will bespeak your own personality.

BATHROOM CABINET FOR STORAGE

There should be a small cabinet where there could be stored:

- (a) cleaning powder for the tub and toilet fixtures as well as the tile of wall and floors;
- (b) soap chips for small washing;
- (c) the large bottle of hand lotion from which the small dressing table bottles may be filled;
- (d) the large bottles which don't go into the medicine cabinet;
- (e) the shoe polish—often needed in hasty dressing these days;
- (f) extra bath soap and toilet soap.

FLUORESCENT LIGHTING

One of the newest developments in electric lighting is the fluorescent lamp. This lamp gives a highly diffused light, and is a different size and shape than the older Mazda globe, being usually a long slender cylinder. Reflectors are usually used in connection with these fluorescent lights to increase the efficiency of the lamp and decrease the cost of operation.

Wired units are supplied with white plastic lamp holders, aluminum channel and covers. Wire-mold controls designed to fit within the channel are made, to provide a completely self-contained installation. There are fittings for ceilings, walls or for special applications.

DREAM HOME

No Longer Hard to Have

Who has not mused over his dream home and hoped that some day he could construct it and live in it?

Without doubt it would surpass in loveliness, in comfort and convenience anything you have ever really experienced. It would be insulated, air conditioned; it would have the best of conveniences and appliances that operate automatically. You would eliminate practically all the work and what was left would be done easily and quickly.

Probably you have despaired—particularly through the past few years—of ever owning this dream house, but today you may realize that dream through the present very desirable financing arrangements available.

No one who really wishes to own his home need delay its construction. Why not look into this matter now?

WHEN PAINTING

A good painting job requires careful workmanship and the observance of certain rules as to the working conditions under which the paint is applied.

There are paints made for all purposes, so be sure to buy the right kind for your use. Use wall paint for walls, floor paint for floors, shingle stains for shingles, etc. There are also interior and exterior paints that differ greatly in their composition (ingredients).

Never try to paint while your surface is the least wet or even damp. If in doubt, wait until you are absolutely sure the surface is quite dry straight through. Also, don't paint out of doors in extremely hot weather; the paint will blister and run and require doing the job over again, to make a satisfactory piece of work.

Follow the directions given on the paint can to the utmost detail. If the instructions say to sandpaper or remove grease or to apply filler, be sure to do these things meticulously. A spot of unremoved grease will spoil your finish; as also the finish will be marred unless you have sandpapered and dusted your surface before applying your paint coat.

It pays to buy good brushes; otherwise the hairs will shed continually and you will either have to remove them at your inconvenience or have the finished appearance of your work affected by their distracting presence.

INSULATE THE BOILER

Have you noticed that your rooms directly above the heating plant are warmer than the other rooms on the first floor?

Naturally there is some heat that will escape from the furnace into the basement and your floors should be nicely warm but if you feel there is excessive heat being wasted from the boiler, you had better investigate the physical condition of your furnace.

An inquiry was received the other day as to whether coating the ceiling above the boiler with a reflecting surface such as tinfoil or aluminum paint would reduce the excessive heat coming into the first floor rooms above the boiler room.

It would probably have that effect, but it would be much better to have the boiler heavily insulated so as to conserve the heat and send it into the pipes or registers above. Too much heat is escaping from your boiler.

—You need Healo this weather. Sprinkle this wonderful foot powder in your shoes and you will enjoy a comfort you never dreamed of.

—Stationery for social use—in fine quality and variety, can be procured at the B. F. Shaw Printing Company.

TERRACE

In a house atop a California hill, there is this lovely terrace. The gaiety of its cleanly painted lattice trim and shutters of Western Pine adds beauty to this restful spot.

HOME APPLIANCES

The modern home is so completely equipped with appliances that tend to relieve the drudgery of housework that it is almost unnecessary to call to the attention of those who intend to build or modernize that all of the conveniences that it is possible to incorporate should be installed while building.

Just one of those conveniences is a garbage receiver which may be sunk in the ground directly outside the kitchen door, the top of which is raised by pressing a lever with the foot. Such a garbage receiver is not unsightly. Furthermore, it is much more sanitary because the garbage container being below ground is out of the way of dogs and cats that may prow around.

COST REDUCTION NEEDED IN SMALL HOMES

A successful design for a small low-priced home calls for plan efficiency, economic use of materials, and proper equipment.

No waste space, every odd corner, every foot of lumber, piece of brick that can be eliminated must be saved. At the same time efficiency and economy should not be obtained at the expense of substantial construction or by sacrificing the minimum standards of convenience and comfort.

Savings may be effected by making use of available standard materials such as unit sizes of masonry, stock millwork and standard lengths of lumber.

Whenever possible the home builder should consult a reliable architect and builder before submitting application of an insured loan.

WHEN DRAWERS STICK

If the drawers in kitchen cabinets stick, remove them and sandpaper the edges or sides which are causing the trouble. After the drawer has been properly refitted, apply paraffin to the runways and bottom edges to make them run smoothly.

By extending the water supply 18 inches to two feet beyond the faucet to a dead end, an air chamber is formed which makes an air cushion and prevents water hammering and noises.

46 War Training Courses is Offered Here This Winter

Instruction to Start at High School During Week of Sept. 21

Approximately 12 classes in the Engineering, Science and Management War Training program are scheduled to open at the Dixon high school during the week of September 21. This program was conducted last winter and spring as a defense training measure, with three classes consisting of about 100 enrollees. It has now assumed its proper relation to the war effort as a war training program. Forty-six courses are offered, among them being the following, which will be available in Dixon. Others will be offered as the demand arises.

Foundations of Engineering—A; providing training in basic physical sciences and mathematics needed in common engineering practices.

Fundamentals of Radio—1; providing training for men and women who desire to learn the basic principles of radio theory and practice. This course will be followed by Course 2, and will qualify men for service in the Signal Corps Radio division.

Engineering Drafting—1; providing training in the theory and practice of drafting. To be followed by Course 4.

Pre-Foremanship Training; for selected company employees in order to qualify them as production supervisors. To be followed by a course in Supervisory Training and one in Production Engineering.

Engineering Instruction Personal and Industrial Relations; providing training for men in war industries. To be followed by a course in Labor Relations.

Safety Engineering; designed to promote safety and conserve manpower in our wartime industries by the training of men and women for leadership in safety programs.

Elements of Electrical Engineering; designed to provide instruction in electrical engineering fundamentals, preparatory to additional study in some specialized field, such as power communication or electronics. This was one of the courses completed last Spring.

Electrical Circuits; designed to aid those men who desire to extend their present knowledge of Electrical Circuit Theory and application. Available for those men who completed the course in Elements of Electrical Engineering.

Aerial Bombardment Protection; provides training for Engineers and qualified civilians in proper methods of protection of life and property and normal functioning of civilian pursuits during and after aerial bombardment. The qualifications for this course are rather high, being at least three years of Engineering Education or its equivalent. It is desired to provide a pool of trained men for use in case of emergency.

given through the University of Illinois, and the United States Office of Education of the Federal Security Administration. More than twenty training centers have been designated in Illinois, of which Dixon is one of the first. The administrative and instructional staff are being organized and plans are nearing completion for the starting of classes.

The courses are designed for those now employed who desire to do part-time study for the purpose of fitting themselves for more responsible assignments, either in industry or the military service. The courses will concentrate on immediate practical application to war jobs.

A GOOD REASON! INSULATE NOW

Owners of homes and other structures which "leak heat" can contribute much to the war effort if they would insulate these buildings now and therefore realize a saving in coal this coming winter.

Fuel is of vital importance to war production. Insulation helps to conserve fuel and at the same time involves the use of little or no material needed otherwise in the war effort.

While skilled labor is becoming scarce in many parts of the country, there are plenty of capable men at the present time here in Dixon to handle insulation jobs and all types of insulation are available.

The use of insulation of various kinds and care in the operation and maintenance of the heating system benefit the homeowner by making the dwelling more comfortable and by reducing the cost of heating. The use of less fuel lightens the heavy burden placed on the nation's transportation system, lessens the threat of a fuel shortage and becomes a definite contribution to the nation's wartime needs.

Sydney Smith, a coiner of wit and philosophy once said: "If you would make children happy now, you will make them happy forty years hence by the memory of it."

"Well, I hope you slapped him."

Your roof should not only keep you dry—but warm too. Nearly half of the heat you lose to the outside during winter goes off through the roof. The roof is as important as doors and windows in conserving heat.

A new shingle roof, put on over the old, not only keeps your roof water tight, but seals the heat inside where you need it. Even if your roof does not leak right now, it's wise economy to build up its thickness as a protection against winter.

REMODELS BARN

Another note on remodeling comes from the rural section this time. The barn on the Joseph Schuster farm on RFD 1 west of Dixon is being remodeled to some extent. As to how much we don't know but we do know that any repairs made now on farm properties is well worth the time and energy expended because of the importance of farming in relation to the war effort.

Do Not Remove Old Wood Shingles

In applying a new roof, it is a wasteful and unnecessary practice to strip off the old shingles. These should be left in place and covered with the new shingles. Moreover, the double roof is considerably constitute the old form of roof Certigrade Red Cedar Shingles constitute the old form of roof covering that actually adds to the strength of the roof. All other roofing materials, that is roll roofing, etc., are just surfacing materials and impose a compensating increase in strength.

Over-Walling With Certigrade Certigrade shingles may be used to unusual advantage in over-wallings and restyling old homes, regardless of the nature of the existing outer walls. Certigrade goes well over old wood siding, over brick, and over stucco.

Country Club Golfers Have Annual Round-Up Program; Mrs. Myers Is New Chairman

Nine holes of banker's handicap golf, followed by another nine holes of "crazy golf", started the afternoon's festivities off successfully for linkswomen of the Dixon Country club, who met yesterday for their annual Round-Up, closing event of the 1942 season. After the golf games (in which the players weren't too concerned with posting par scores, for the yearly party is mostly for fun and not for brilliant links achievement), dinner was served at the clubhouse, the season's awards were distributed, and new officers were elected for 1943, with bingo games as the concluding pleasure.

Mrs. Eldon Myers, who has been serving as secretary-treasurer this year, was elected to serve as sports chairman, succeeding Mrs. L. C. Shoaf, this season's golf head. Mrs. Carl Plozman is the new secretary.

Delayed but undaunted by yesterday's showers, the women golfers started their links program about an hour later than scheduled. Mrs. Donald R. Alton, Mrs. E. E. Barrowman, and Mrs. James Osborn were winners of the banker's handicap bout; Miss Lucile Stauffer had the most 8's; and Mrs. Joe Miller-carded low putts.

In "crazy golf", Mrs. Barrowman had the lowest total score for the first three holes. Mrs. John Shaulis, Jr. made the longest drive on No. 4. Mrs. Joe Miller was closest to the pin in two on No. 5. Mrs. Robert Brewster had low score for No. 6. Mrs. Shoaf won No. 7. Mrs. Shaulis, No. 8, and Mrs. Brewster, No. 9.

Patriotic Motif
Dinner tables that were artistically appointed in patriotic red, white and blue awaited the linkswomen at the clubhouse last evening. Five newcomers, who have been brought to Dixon by the Green River ordnance plant—Mrs. Donald R. Alton, Mrs. M. O. Hammer, Mrs. L. Y. Peterson, Mrs. James Osborn, and Mrs. Harry Smith—were instigators of the decorative motif, using gladioli, lighted tapers in crystal candleabra, and lengths of crepe paper. Golf balls on tripods of tees were favors at the covers.

Mrs. Shoaf presided during a brief business meeting and expressed appreciation for the enthusiastic cooperation of her committees and chairmen throughout the season. Awards for the two major tournament events for 1942 were distributed as follows:

Receive Awards
August championship tourney, Miss Marian Davies, who also won the 1941 championship title; runner-up, Mrs. Robert Brewster; consolation flight, Mrs. Shoaf; runner-up, Mrs. Harry Smith; June handicap contest, Mrs. Leo Miller; runner-up, Mrs. E. E. Barrowman; B-flight, Mrs. Brewster; runner-up, Mrs. L. Y. Peterson. Miss Davies, who leaves tomorrow for New York City to resume her secretarial work, received a bronze trophy of a woman golfer, club up-raised.

Pro Ralph Stonehouse acted as caller for the bingo, following the awarding of prizes. Attractive favors were also distributed during the games.

Covers at dinner were arranged for Mrs. Robert Brewster, Mrs. L. Y. Peterson, Mrs. M. O. Hammer, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. L. C. Shoaf, Mrs. Donald R. Alton, Mrs. Eldon Myers, Mrs. Carl Plozman, Mrs. James Osborn, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. Carl Buchner, Mrs. E. E. COLLEGE PAPER SAYS "WAVES" MINUS LIPSTICKS, SWEATERS, CHALLENGE TO GLAMOR GIRLS

By RUTH COWAN

Northampton, Mass., Aug. 29—(AP)—The purposeful "WAVES"—the Navy's sailorettes—were acclaimed today by the male editorial pen of the "Amherst Student" as presenting a challenge to collegiate glamor girls.

"To contemplate the shock of females as God made them, free of lipstick, fuzzy sweaters and $40 sport coats, is very pleasing indeed," declared an editorial in the Amherst college students' weekly newspaper in welcoming the "waves" to this neighborhood.

"For our time," it said, "the era of collegiate glamor girls has lost its punch. The sight of blue jeans, bare legs and headkerchiefs will henceforth leave us listless and unimpressed."

Vanguard Arrives

The vanguard of waves, accepted for training at the first feminine Annapolis, the U. S. naval training school being set up on the Smith college campus, were arriving this weekend and causing a stir in this collegiate area bounded by Smith, nearby Mt. Holyoke college, Massachusetts State and Amherst.

The editorial writer held that the contrast of 900 "crisply uniformed" waves, who will arrive when this preliminary group has prepared the way for the formal opening of the women student officer candidates school on Oct. 6, as compared to the casually col-

Meanwhile a gong got the two dozen first arrivals out of bed at Capen House, a dormitory on Smith college, at 6:45 a. m. among those it routed included several college deans, college teachers and successful professional women, many of whom have been used to sounding a bell for others to go into action.

BILLY CAHILL IS NOW TWO

Billy Cahill, little son of the John Cahills of Peoria avenue, was two years old yesterday, and in honor of the occasion, his mother arranged a joint celebration with his cousin, Mary Dixon, who will be seven on Monday. There were individual pastel cakes, with matching candles, ice cream cups, and party snappers at the Dixon home, in addition to birthday gifts for both Billy and Mary.

Attending the family party were the Cahills and their sons, Billy and Johnny, Mrs. Henry Dixon, Mrs. G. T. Van Nuys, and Mrs. Sherwood Dixon and her five children, Mary, Henry, William, Louise, and James.

JUST-OUT-OF-HIGH-SCHOOL CROWD CONTINUES MAKING PLANS FOR COLLEGE STUDY

In the second installment this morning of the 1942 back-to-school chronicle, there's news of another contingent of the just-out-of-high-school crowd who are soon to bid farewell to their families and head for distant, as well as nearby, campuses.

Virginia Dodd, a valedictorian of the class of '42, will enroll as a freshman at the University of Illinois, about Sept. 8 or 9, and plans to major in physical education. While in Champaign, she will reside with her aunt, Mrs. Dwight Steve Varner, at 509 1/2 Springfield street. Virginia, daughter of the Arthur Dodds of Carroll avenue, was an active member of the G. A. A. while in high school, and sang with "The Melody Maids."

Georgia Jewett, another member of The Melody Maids trio, hasn't decided upon a major, but plans to study piano at Cornell college in Mt. Vernon, Iowa this year. Georgia, daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Canfield, appeared in two plays, "Footloose" and "What a Life", as well as the operetta, "Trial by Jury", during her senior year, and as a junior, was a member of the cast for the mystery thriller "The Ghost Train". She also sang with the Treble Clef choir of the First Methodist church.

Roger Chapman, who also made frequent appearances behind the footlights in productions of the Dramatic club and Glee clubs, left Thursday for Lafayette, Ind., where he plans to major in mechanical engineering at Purdue university. As a senior, he served as president of the Travel club. Roger's parents, the Dwight Chapmans, accompanied him to Lafayette, and returned to Dixon yesterday, after an overnight visit with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ross in Springfield.

Robert Tennant, past master counselor of Dixon chapter, Order of DeMolay, will be leaving about Sept. 16 for Appleton, Wis., where he will be a first-year student at Lawrence college. Bob, who was a member of the cast for the play "Footloose" and served as editor in chief of last year's edition of "The Yearbook", is considering chemistry as a major. While at Lawrence, his address will be "Brokaw Hall".

Also studying at Cornell in Mt. Vernon as freshmen this season will be Paul Reynolds, Harvie Ware, Jo Van Meter, and Cyril Shank. Paul, son of Mrs. Elmer D. Reynolds, expects to leave for the Mt. Vernon campus, Sept. 10. He has had employment at the Green River ordnance plant during the summer.

Jo, who won numerals in football, basketball and track, has been with the Lindquist Construction company this summer, as has Cyril, who shared 1942 valedictorian honors with Virginia Dodd. Cyril was a two-letter man, having been a member of the Dukes football and basketball squads.

Harvie played the trombone in the high school band and orchestra, and was a member of Boy Scout troop No. 572, whose first aid unit won high honors in regional competition during the past year. He is a son of the H. F. Wares.

A five-year nursing course lies ahead for Eileen IFnney, according to her present plans. She will be leaving Sept. 14 for Madison to enter the University of Wisconsin, having been granted an out-of-state scholarship in recognition of her high scholastic standing as a straight-A student in high school. In addition to serving on the Dixini staff, Eileen appeared in every operetta and play produced by the Dramatic club and Glee clubs, as an upper classman. The talented young singer, who is a daughter of the Roy Finneys, is frequently heard as soloist at Grace Evangelical church.

Charlotte Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Mueller of 804 Palmyra, will be off for the University of Illinois, on or about Sept. 8. Her address while at school will be 1112 West Oregon. Charlotte has been a member of the Treble Clef choir of the First Methodist church since it was organized.

Two other June graduates, Jane Wingert and Catherine Kump, have registered at Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital, where they will enter training the first of next week.

Stabilizing Wages

After months of puzzling, and much reading of speeches and consultation with authorities, perhaps we have found the legitimate line of demarcation between two approaches to the problem of wartime wages.

There has been a great deal of talk about wage freezing, on the one hand, and wage stabilization on the other. So far as most of the definition went, these seemed to be different names for the same thing—though proponents of stabilization expressed intense dislike for "freezing" and the freezers were cold toward "stabilization."

Now it appears that the freezers would have every wage, high or low, pegged right where it is until the danger of inflation is past. The stabilizers, on the other hand, would have adequate wages pegged, but would permit the raising of substandard wages to the level of adequacy.

On that basis, few could argue successfully against the advocates of stabilization. One could, however, easily throw the convention into turmoil by inquiring where sub-standard wages end and adequate wages begin.

President Roosevelt appears to be in the stabilization camp.

The President appointed the War Labor Board, and that body is responsible to him. In a sort of vague, formless way, the WLB appears to be under a mandate to stabilize wages.

So what does the board do? It gathers roots and herbs and fragrant grasses, stews them in a copper kettle in the light of a quarter-eclipsed moon, and brings forth a potion guaranteed to cure everything from static to inflation.

We are handed, with "explanatory" text, a formula for wage "stabilization" which pegs wages at the Jan. 1, 1941, level plus a percentage determined by the intervening rise in the cost of living.

Little Steel's employees, among the highest paid, get the raise. Big Steel's can not be denied their just due. Neither can General Motors' or Ford's or Chrysler's—all among our highest paid workers.

On the other hand a notoriously substandard wage scale employer, who shall be nameless, is asked for raises. Checking his payrolls, he finds that by giving a few men and women a few cents more a day, he will have satisfied the WLB's cost of living formula. He gives the raises, and that's all.

The cost of living has risen 155 per cent. So the prosperous craftsmen, receiving sometimes as much as $125 a week with overtime, is entitled to 15 per cent raise. The poor unorganized worker, getting $18 a week, also is entitled to a 155 per cent raise—if he can get it.

We hope this explanation of how wage stabilization works will clarify all of our readers' minds, answer all of their questions, and show how inflation is being fought.

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

BY RENE RYERSON MART

THE STORY: While her family is away at a lake resort, Enid, Sharon, stenographer, has taken a furnished apartment for a secret vacation of her own. She wants some of the leisure and luxury that she misses at home, also wants to make sure of her love for Tom Briscoe, whom she has promised to marry. She has told Tom she is going out to town on a business trip. At the apartment Enid is attracted to one of her neighbors, handsome young Dr. Henry Holliday. She is embarrassed when the doctor, who has been visiting her, is invited to supper by the doctor.

GOOD NEIGHBORS

CHAPTER VIII

ENID could not decide whether she was glad or sorry about what she had learned, as she undressed for bed. If Dr. Holliday was a divorced man, he was a free man. And yet—the feeling was so hazy that she had difficulty analyzing it—a divorce somehow tarnished him in her mind. It was like seeing, unexpectedly, clay feet on a marble statue.

It was Wednesday evening about 9 when her doorbell rang. When she answered it, there stood the doctor. He grinned at her amiably.

"It's too beastly hot to stay indoors tonight. I saw you light a cigarette, maybe, you'd like to take a ride."

Enid looked down at her paint-smeared smock. She'd been working all day, she hadn't even been out for a breath of air. "I'd be glad to," she said shyly, "if you don't mind waiting until I dress."

"Of course not," he told her. "Just ring my bell when you're ready."

She fairly flew into her clothes. A black wool sport dress cut on expensively simple lines—she shivered when she thought how much she had paid for it, the jacket of her white linen suit, the white sandals and a pair of hose so sheer you couldn't believe they were there. She swept her hair up swiftly into its simple arrangement. Then a touch of deep rose lipstick matching her nail polish, and perfume on brows and in the hollow of her throat—an evasive fragrance as delicate as the scent of wild flowers.

Her reward was the look Dr. Holliday gave her when he joined her in the hall, a look of admiration and acceptance.

"He really thinks I belong to his class," Enid thought as she settled beside him in the seat of the convertible. "I wonder how he'd act if he knew I was a $20-a-week stenographer off on a binge!" But she couldn't feel sorry for the deception at the moment.

DR. HOLLIDAY took the river road. He had the top down on the car and above them the stars shone big and luminous, and were reflected in the still dark reaches of the river. As they drew near the Club Del Rio they knew the dance music. Enid remembered the last night she had been there with Tom. The night they had run into Grace Dingling and Norma Senton from the office.

Dr. Holliday motioned for service to a pert waitress who had just brought a tray to the next car. "What will you have?" he asked Enid.

She smiled. "You must be a mind reader. I just remembered that I hadn't had any supper."

"Why didn't you tell me? We'll go inside and order a steak."

"No. A sandwich is all I want. It's rather silly, isn't it, to forget meals?"

He gave their order to the waiting girl and turned back to her. "If I'm not being impertinent—what made you forget?"

"Oh, I was busy painting."

"That's right. You told me you were a fashion artist. By the way, have you landed a job yet?"

Enid shook her head. "No—I'm not having much luck."

"He considered for a moment. I might be able to help you. Sam Thornton, head of the advertising department at Lilley's, is a good friend of mine. Would you like a letter to him?"

"Would I?" Enid echoed fervently.

"I'll write one when we get back," he promised. The band glided into a hot rendition of "Blues in the Night." The doctor hummed it lightly under his breath. Impulsively he turned to her. "Let's dance, this one."

"Oh—I don't dance well."

"All the more reason to dance with me," he said cheerily. "I'm not a professional either."

He was not to be put off with casual excuses, Enid saw. Rather helplessly she let him help her out of the car and lead her around to the front entrance of the dance pavilion. He bought a strip of dance tickets, and they went down the shallow steps to the dance floor.

Dr. Holliday, as he had freely admitted, wasn't a good dancer. He seemed to know only one step and it kept them turning around and around, but there was no place to go on the crowded dance floor anyway. Enid gradually grew less tense. There wasn't much chance of anyone she knew spotting her in such a crowd, either. It was their second time around

Who Wants Strikes?

Apparently nobody wants strikes, particularly in war plants. Responsible union officials have promised that the "right to strike" will be waived during the war. The dues-paying membership does not want to strike; it wants to work, earn a good living and help beat Hitler. Surely employers do not want strikes. And we, the public, hate them like the poison they are.

Why, then, should there be a paralyzing parade of strikes, "vacations," "holidays," and work stoppages under various hypocritical pseudonyms?

Principally, we believe, because thousands of subordinate professional labor union officials are too ignorant to realize that the war has changed both the underlying situation and the popular psychology.

Most of these minor "leaders" grew up in an era when workers were exploited, when employers were arbitrary and unreasonable, when the way to "leadership" was to achieve some new gain for the local at least once a year—a little more pay, a little shorter working day, some additional vacation or sick leave provision—anything that would demonstrate that the "leader" was on the job, earning his salary by forcing concessions out of the boss.

Such men apparently do not realize that, for the most part, their constituents now are very well paid; that workers are more interested in war production than in such ideological considerations as the union shop; that there is no surer way of injuring the institution of labor unionism than to foster strikes or stoppages which will delay war production.

The topmost leaders of unionism, both A. F. of L. and C. I. O., are as patriotic as the rank and file of Americans. The workers who make up the unions are as patriotic as the soldiers and sailors in uniform.

It is high time that these two groups get together and squeeze out the relatively few middlemen, occupying strategic positions as local officers, shop stewards, etc., who are bringing unionism into disrepute.

This is not a reactionary viewpoint. A good reactionary, who hated unionism as such, would not seek to induce unionism to clean house and cooperate in the war effort. He would try to provoke the unions into greater excesses.

Continuation of obstructionism in war production is the surest way of swinging back the pendulum and depriving labor of much of the gain it has achieved in the past 10 years.

Universal Rationing Book

One advantage of a universal rationing book has not been mentioned by the Office of Price Administration, but presumably is close to the top of the OPA mind.

So long as individual books are used for each rationed item, it is impossible to inaugurate a new program without advance fanfare, because the mechanical preparations—the devising and printing of the forms—are certain to become known.

With a universal book, the presumably discreet top executives can decide, in executive session, that at midnight of a certain day such an item shall be rationed. Then, so quickly that little hoarding will be done, the order can be promulgated and put into effect.

You can't cut some messenger boys to the quick. They have none.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington, Aug. 28—A discouraging condition in some confused corners of the American public mind has been presented to me, in reader reaction to my recent effort to clear some exceptionally unreasonable anti-war thinking on the part of an anonymous correspondent in Cincinnati.

In my mailbag I found vociferous minority of people who apparently want to do nothing in this war except argue about whether it is right, to argue about Mr. Roosevelt, the new deal, the British, the Jews, India, in fact practically everything except the question before the house, namely: "The war—how to win it."

Apparently there are three groups of dissenters in this country, as represented in this mail. The first need not bother anyone. There were a few letters from exceptionally enthusiastic persons, like the one who threatened me not only with death but promised further personally to assure me everlasting life in hell.

There is a second group of war dissenters who apparently do not care much about winning it, because they think it was started by the Jews, or by "Morgan, Dupont and John D." or by Roosevelt, or the British, or practically anyone except the Japs and nazis.

It is not necessary to argue with people who hold these views. To clear them of their confusion it should only be necessary to point out that no matter who started the war, they themselves are in it, we are all in it.

The fighting is not restricted to those whom they accuse. If they are right, completely right, in all their wildest accusations, the slightest sense of self-preservation will tell them they had better strain every ounce of energy they possess to win, or they will live under the rule of the despised Japs (who promised to make peace in the White House) and nazis.

The absence of this second group from the war effort might not make any important difference in our conduct of the war, if they were not strengthened indirectly and perhaps unintentionally by a third group of citizens. This third group is the one that worries me.

If I believe my mail, they are earnest Americans, seekers for truth, who did not like either Roosevelt's foreign policies or domestic policies before Pearl Harbor, whose minds are filled with such recollections as the president's promise not to send our boys to foreign soil. A promise he could not keep. In their disillusionment and confusion, this group is failing to contribute energy, work, dollars or even scrap metal to the cause.

These are the people who see that the doctrine of the four freedoms has not been conscientiously applied in the past by many of our allies, Britain as well as Russia. Some of them see lax labor discipline in our midst, inefficiency, the big debt, uncertain goals, and they sink into despair. They are the disillusioned idealists.

They think they are logical and dealing in truths. Yes, but only up to the point where they must reach a conclusion as to what they intend to do about their grievances. Their complaints are founded in some justice, so they think only about these complaints, but never do they say what they think should be done.

In all the hundreds of letters reaching me, not a single correspondent in this third group suggested any course of action.

They dare not bring themselves to it.

They dare not face the conclusion implied by their argument, because that would bring them to advocate surrender—surrender of the country to the Japs and nazis.

They cannot meet the obvious consequences of their own position, and advocate peace, because they know peace today means surrender and national misery for many generations to come.

They just keep on moping about their grievances to an extent where they, as a mass group, are actually promoting the consequences of their position which they dare not face—defeat.

Whether they realize it or not, they are contributing to defeat, both negatively, by doing nothing constructive, and affirmatively, by their influence in thought. That kind of disillusioned and honest idealism is a doublecross played upon our soldiers, our army and navy and marine corps even by some fathers, mothers and brothers of boys in the service, who do not realize where their thinking is leading them.

They are unwittingly undermining the safety of their own loved ones. Don't forget casualties are always greater on the losing side, and money must be raised by bonds to give our men proper power and protection.

There is not idealism or truth at all, but plain blind unthinking political melancholia. I do not like to call groups of people names unless they choose names for themselves, but these people in this third group will soon classify themselves as the "White Flaggers" of this country, if they do not stop moping about past events and pitch in to win. By their own position, they are already running up their own personal sign of surrender.

The only way out of a war—once you are in it—is to throw everything you have into it and win it. All other considerations must wait. Most of the country knows this, but apparently a few still do not.

Board of Directors Defends News Service Against Charges

New York, Aug. 29—(AP)—The following statement of the board of directors of The Associated Press was issued by President Robert McLean in connection with the government's antitrust complaint, filed Friday:

"The Associated Press has invaded the lawful rights of no one in the great and unsurpassed service that it has rendered to the reading public for the last forty-two years. What is charged against it is no more, at bottom, than this: That it seeks to protect its members who have invested their skill, their work and their money in its growth."

"The Associated Press will resist the present proceedings as without merit in either law or fact."

"The Associated Press in its present form was incorporated in New York on May 22, 1900. It is a cooperative news organization conducted without profit for its member newspapers. This means that each member is obligated to serve the news that it gathers in its local community to all other members outside of its community and when it does so adequately it fulfills its obligation to the other members of The Associated Press. The membership of The Associated Press includes newspapers of all classes and types. It has no barriers of politics or faith or color. It is this cooperative ownership which guarantees a fair and accurate news service to the citizens of this country."

Founded After Sherman Act

"When The Associated Press was organized in 1900, as the successor to a long series of other press associations of the same name, some of them true cooperatives but others devoted to private profit, the Sherman act under which these proceedings are taken was already ten years old.

"There was no hint at that time that the charter granted by the state of New York was in conflict with the terms or intent of the act, which had been passed in 1890, as everyone knows, to abate and prevent monopolies or combinations in restraint of trade.

"The immediate predecessor of the present Associated Press, the Associated Press of Illinois, had been organized in 1893, three years after the passage of the Sherman act.

"At that time a very serious menace to the freedom of the press confronted American newspapers. They were threatened by a sinister domination by private interests of their news services, both American and foreign. To meet that menace the Associated Press of Illinois was formed. It was national in character, non-profit making and owned by its member newspapers, who were pledged to collect an honest, unbiased news report for the benefit of their readers.

"In 1900 it was superseded by the present Associated Press, a New York membership corporation of the same character and purposes.

"Under its New York charter The Associated Press carried on its purposes unchallenged until 1915, when a complaint against it was filed by a non-member paper which operated a rival news service. The complaint was considered by T. W. Gregory, then attorney-general in the Wilson administration, and on March 12, 1915, he decided formally that it was without merit.

"Incidental to that decision Mr. Gregory called attention to the fact that one article of the by-laws, designed to prevent the leakage of news from the offices of member newspapers, was so drawn that it might be interpreted as forbidding members to buy the service of competitive press associations, organized for profit. This by-law had not been enforced, but in response to Mr. Gregory's doubts it was abrogated.

1,000,000 Words a Day

"Since then, until the beginning of the present proceedings, no complaint that The Associated Press' cooperative operations were in conflict with the Sherman act, or with any other law, had been lodged by anyone.

"In the interval there was a steady widening of the service it provided for its members, and a steady growth in membership. A few figures will show how this growth has worked. In 1904 The Associated Press had 648 members. At present there are approximately 1400. Simultaneously, there has been a vast improvement and extension in the service. In 1904 the news report furnished to members ran to 60,000 words a day. Today it runs to 1,000,000.

"At the same time the commercial news services, organized for profit, have risen and flourished in free rivalry with The Associated Press, and with yet other news services The Associated Press has maintained friendly arrangements for the exchange of news. It is noteworthy that in the last few years, The Associated Press was able to create a world wide American news service.

"It has followed throughout its 42 years the one purpose of providing its members with the most complete and accurate news service obtainable, along with the best picture service and other necessary auxiliary services. It has today a staff of 7200 men and women, a leased wire network of 285,000 miles, 100 bureaus in the United States, and nearly 250 correspondents abroad.

"The board of directors reiterates its belief that the operation and practices of The Associated Press comply fully with all the laws of the United States and that the charges brought are without foundation in law or in fact."

DODGERS SLAM OUT 7-1 WIN OVER CUBS; BOSTON SHUTS OUT WHITE SOX

Yanks Apply Whitewash to Indians, 3-0

Cardinals Turn Back Phils Twice Cutting Brook Lead to 5 Games

(By The Associated Press) Disheartening as it may be to the Boston Red Sox, the citizens of Brooklyn and the manufacturers of medical supplies, it begins to look as if the New York Yankees will be able to finish the American league pennant race without the aid of an ambulance. With their injury list crowded much of the time, the Yanks have done little better than break even since the start of the month, winning 15 games and losing 11 for an average of .577.

But the cripples have started shedding their bandages and turning up at their regular posts, a situation that spells trouble for other clubs in the league and particularly the Red Sox, who have won 16 of their last 18 games in a desperate drive to overhaul the Yanks.

Two fugitives from a hospital bed took their places in the lineup yesterday as the Yankees applied their 17th whitewash job of the year, a 3-0 shutout over the crumbling Cleveland Indians.

Browns Nip A's
Spud Chandler made his first start on the mound since Aug. 19 when he wrenched his back at Boston, and demonstrated that he has recovered completely.

Buddy Hassett also returned to his first base post, enabling utility infielder Gerry Priddy to shift to the opposite corner and give Red Rolfe a much needed rest.

The victory kept the Yankees eight games in front of the Red Sox, who blanked the Chicago White Sox, 4-0, on the four hit hurling of Joe Dobson.

Meanwhile, the St. Louis Browns strengthened their hold on third place by nipping the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-4 in ten innings, and the Detroit Tigers moved to within a game and a half of fourth-place Cleveland by whipping the Washington Senators, 10-7 in 14 innings.

Braves Knock Over Reds
In the National league, the Brooklyn Dodgers walloped the Chicago Cubs, 7-1, but watched their lead shrink to five games as the stubborn St. Louis Cardinals took both ends of a double bill from the Philadelphia Phils. Claude Passeau went after his 18th pitching victory for the Cubs but wound up with his tenth defeat. Three relievers also failed to check the Dodgers' 17-hit attack.

For seven innings, Kirby Higbe handcuffed the Bruins on four hits but he loaded the bases in the eighth and had to have help from Hugh Casey, who pulled out with the loss of only one run.

The Cardinals, inspired by the success they enjoyed in taking three out of four games from the Dodgers, dropped the Phils, 7-4 and 7-5.

The New York Giants were kept idle by weather at Pittsburgh but their hold on third place was strengthened when the Boston Braves knocked over Bucky Walters and the Cincinnati Reds, 4-2, in a night game.

Ill. Farmer Wins Shoot

Vandalia, O., Aug. 29—(AP)—An Illinois farmer, 32 year old James F. Holderman of Morris, may be the first man in history to hold the Grand American handicap trapshooting championship more than one year.

He won it yesterday in a thrilling shootout with Art Finney, Mankato, Minn., dry cleaner, and unless the bin on the manufacture of shotgun shells is lifted, the "roaring grand" probably will not be held next year and Holderman will retain the title for the duration.

Holderman and Finney hooked up in a 25 target shootout after outshooting a field of almost 1,000 with scores of 193 of 200—Holderman from 20 yards and Finney from 23. In the extra event Holderman broke 25 straight, while Finney muffed the fifth and tenth flays.

Victory meant glory, a flock of silverware and more than $1,500 in cash to the winner, who operates a 600 acre farm 20 miles from Joliet.

Homer Clark of Alton, Ill., annexed the professional crown in the big handicap.

SEGURA SLATED TO PLAY TODAY

Top-Seeded Schroeder Faces Hunt in 2nd Round Match

New York, Aug. 29—(AP)—After two singularly dull days, during which even the old guard looked pained at times, the national tennis championships at Forest Hills should ginger up considerably today, if only because Pancho Segura, fabulous little Ecuadorian, might finally show up.

It was announced last night that Segura, complete with two handed forehand, positively would show up at 2:30 p. m. (CWT) today to play his first round match against English Ronald Edwards of Ithaca, N. Y.

Several other promising matches were on tap, too, in the second round of the men's event. Ted Schroeder, Jr., seeded No. 1, faced a stubborn opponent in Corp. Gilbert Hunt, Jr., of Langley Field, Va., and William Talbert of Cincinnati, met E. Victor Seixas, Jr., of Philadelphia, perhaps the best of the east's young stars.

Additionally, the experts were looking forward to a meeting between Frankie Parker, now of Los Angeles, and Richard Hart of Miami—mainly to see if Parker possibly could have developed at the ripe old age of 27 into the great tennis player he looked yesterday in overwhelming Jack Geller of New York without the loss of a game.

All first and second round men's singles matches were scheduled to be completed today, and a beginning made on the mixed doubles.

Card Tryout Camp Opens

Young Players Should Report at Sycamore on Monday Morning

Sycamore, Ill., Aug. 29—Back in 1935 experienced St. Louis Cardinals scout watched a youngster perform in a tryout camp similar to the one which will be held here next Monday and Tuesday. They liked his performance and signed him up. The next year found him playing at Huntington, W. Va., in the Middle Atlantic league. Three years later he was playing with the St. Louis Cardinals. Not only is he a Cardinal regular he is also one of the leading infielders in the major leagues. He is Marty Marion, star shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, who already has three years in the "big leagues" to his credit.

And with the Cardinals, Marion is playing with other men who got their starts in baseball in a similar manner. In fact, every player on the present Cardinal squad was either developed in the extensive Cardinal farm system or came to the Cardinals in trade for players developed in the farm system. In the tryouts to be held at the local ball park next week, the Cardinals are hoping to discover other young players who have ability eventually to become major league stars. The Red Bird organization extends an invitation to all young players of this section between the ages of 17 and 23 to attend the camp for tryouts under the watchful eyes of experienced baseball scouts.

To receive tryouts boys merely have to present themselves at the ball park at 9 o'clock the morning of Monday, Aug. 31, bringing their shoes, gloves and uniforms. The only requirements are that out-of-town boys finance their own trips to Sycamore and living expenses while here. No fee is charged. Players signed to contracts in the camp will be refunded their expenses incident to attending camp.

ALSAB RACES IN AMERICAN DERBY

Chicago, Aug. 29—(AP)—Alsab seeks to regain his place as an outstanding contender for the three year old championship today against six high caliber rivals in the 32nd running of the American Derby at Washington park. Mrs. Al Sabath's colt, seemingly on the comeback trail after a two month layoff because of a splint, has the Preakness and the Withers as the only major stakes to his credit this season. He needs an American Derby victory to counteract the prestige Shut Out has acquired in taking the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont and the Classic, together with several other less important events.

With seven starters, the derby will gross $79,400 and will be worth $60,850 net to the winner.

FOG OBSCURES PLAYING FIELD AS PROS SCORE

Bruce Smith Most Consistent Performer for Vanquished

Chicago, Aug. 29—(AP)—Coach Zuppke's dream of a glamorous ending to his long career in football evaporated like the mists that all but obscured last night's ninth annual All-Star game in Soldiers' Field.

His one time pupil, George Halas, and the massive Chicago Bears machine showed the old Illinois master no mercy before a record crowd of 101,000, walloping the Stars 21 to 0. The Bears won last year's game, 37 to 13.

The National Football league champions of 1940 and 1941, despite the departure of 10 star players for the armed forces, still have their Sid Luckman and their Hugh Gallarneau and their other gridiron demons. The Bears have now participated in four of the All-Star contests without suffering a defeat. They were held to a scoreless tie in the 1934 series inaugural.

Those who sat in the upper regions of Soldiers' Field did not see a single play of the 75 yard drive that netted the Bears their third touchdown in the third period. Fog obscured the playing field from view, but the man with the microphone dutifully reported Luckman galloped over from the eight yard line to score.

Juzwik Runs 91 Yards
The first period Bear touchdown was visible, as Gallarneau went over from the four yard line to climax a 60 yard bear power drive. The second period touchdown was made on a 23 yard pass from Young Bussey to Pool, and that was observed by all hands, too. Joe Stydahar kicked all three conversion points.

Minnesota's Bruce Smith, probably the All-Stars most consistent performer, directed two fierce thrusts in the second period that failed for want of a punch run operating inside the 20 yard line. Notre Dame's Steve Juzwik drew the night's biggest cheer for a 91 yard sprint in the first period, six yards shy of creating an All-Star touchdown.

The game netted about $160,000 for Army and Navy relief, the biggest such fund raised in any single day sports event since Pearl Harbor.

Whirlaway in Trenton 'Cap

Camden, N. J., Aug. 29—(AP)—Whirlaway, wonder horse of the turf, is expected to boost his total income to $468,000 today by romping to victory in the $10,000 added Trenton handicap at Garden State park. His present earnings total $458,336.

A record crowd of close to 40,000 persons, most of them lured by the thrill of watching the four year old chestnut put on his famous stretch run, is expected to jam the stands before the probable post time of 4 p. m. (CWT).

On his last outing Whirlaway was beaten by Rounders in the Arlington handicap on August 3. He will carry top weight of 130 pounds today to 117 for Aonbarr, 111 for Rosetown and 110 for In Question.

All-Star Stars

BRUCE SMITH (Minnesota Half Back)

Bruce Smith was probably the most consistent performer on the College All-Star squad as it bowed to a 21-0 defeat at the hands of the Chicago Bears last night. Smith was the directing force, with his running and passing, in two second period thrusts, both of which failed. Steve Juzwik brought the crowd to its feet when he reeled off a 91-yard run, 6 yards shy of a touchdown, in the first quarter.

JIMMY CONZELMAN WARNS GENE TUNNEY TO LAY OFF FOOTBALL

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor
QUOTE OF THE WEEK: "If that Tunney doesn't lay off football, I'm going to have to clamp down on Shakespeare."—Jimmy Conzelman, coach of the Chicago Cardinals and noted raconteur.

Financial Report: Someone told Branch Rickey that the Cardinals would win in a breeze had they not sold certain players, notably the veteran pitchers—Lon Warneke and Curt Davis.

"But," replied the director of the far-flung St. Louis system, "we have to be solvent to be as close as we are."

Numbers Games: Morton Cooper of the Cardinals, 13 at the start, now wears the uniform carrying the number corresponding to the victory for which he is striving. Cotton Ed Smith of the White Sox could do a non-change performance of that. Pitcher Cooper is setting a mighty alarming precedent. Suppose the fad takes? Players will be wearing batting averages, dates of their children's birthdays, the date their mothers-in-law died or fell down a manhole or perhaps their income tax deduction. Fans will start playing bingo.

Paging Psychoanalyst: The human psyche is a strange phenomena, or, in other words, people are sometimes just plain nuts. Take, for example, a passing acquaintance who became a nervous wreck while his beloved Brooklyn Bums were doing the el foldio in St. Louis. Sleepless nights and foodless days made this man a shadow of his former self. His world crashed around his shoulders. Meanwhile, far across the seas, battles are taking place the implications of which seem to miss this fellow, or at least are postponed until the Dodgers clinch or lose the pennant. In this foolishness or just Freudian? We pass.

What's In a Name? New York professional football Giants finally gave up on pronouncing the name of the Holy Cross fullback turned tackle, Al Kwasoskus. The athlete was perfectly willing to co-operate to the extent of being known as J. Glasoskus, but his teammates simply settled on Jones. As they point out, it is so much easier to shout: "Atta way to go in there, Jonesy, old boy." Instead of: "That's the way to go in there Kwasoskus."

Recruiting Notice: A Navy procurement officer describes the most vexing enlistee he has to face: A young man who wants to be an admiral, preferably near home.

BROWNIES LOSE AS RAIDERS WIN

(By The Associated Press)

Those rampaging Red Raiders of Cedar Rapids virtually sewed up the Three Eye league pennant last night by shadowing Waterloo 8 to 7 while Madison was blasting second place Springfield 9 to 4.

The Raiders got four runs in the opening inning, but Waterloo held on for a 5 to 5 tie entering the last half of the eighth. Seghi then homered with two mates on to put Cedar Rapids out of reach, although Waterloo tallied twice in the ninth.

Madison used a dozen hits to bunch four runs in the fourth inning, paced by Martin's homer, and five in the seventh to beat Springfield. Pitcher Blusen twirled six hit ball for the Blues.

Evansville set down last place Decatur twice, winning the opener 7 to 3, although outthit, and taking the second 12 to 5 on a 15 hit attack that netted runs in every inning but two.

Tonight's schedule keeps Decatur at Evansville, Springfield at Madison and Waterloo at Cedar Rapids.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist
New York, Aug. 29—Max Hill, former AP foreign correspondent who just got home from Tokyo, reports that one of his most exciting adventures in Japan came because he had a yen to bet on a horse race. . . . It seems Japanese race fans are allowed to buy only one ten yen ticket (worth about $5) on the horse they pick. . . . When Max went back for another ticket he was apprehended and tossed in pokey, and since Hill couldn't talk Japanese and the cop couldn't understand English, Max had quite a time getting out. . . . Just goes to show the difference. Here guys who bet $10 on a race usually want the jockey or the owner juggled. . . . Old Honus Wagner is back in circulation after 11 weeks in the hospital because of an eye infection.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
J. P. Wynne, Lock Haven (Pa.) Express: "Can't figure out whether the two-night ball clubs should be called cold supper clubs or cold shoulder clubs, seeing that the Hollywood inaugural attendance was only a little over 500."

SERVICE DEPT.
When Camp Lee (Va.) called off its football program, the athletic staff already had acquired 50 of the niftiest game uniforms you ever saw and 200 practice suits. . . . any bids? Ensign Bob Swisher, former Chicago Bears halfback, just can't escape his old rival, George Svendsen, former Green Bay Packers center. . . . They're both at the Iowa preflight school, and in the first scrimmage Svendsen stepped on Swisher's hand and busted a finger.

LETDOWN
When Dick Harlow was watching his Harvard footballers the other day, a pleasant sight was a big, fast, rugged-looking freshman who appeared exceptionally good at pulling out of the line. . . . Turning to Line Coach Lyle Clark, Dick asked "Who is he?" . . . "Don't get excited," came the reply. "His name is Hollingsworth; he comes from Groton, and he joins the marine Sept. 10. He's just doing this to toughen himself up."

AP Ranks Foremost in Public Reputation, Esteem: Government

Compared With UP, INS in Federal Court Petition

New York, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The government had this to say about The Associated Press Friday in its Federal court petition under the anti-trust laws:

"The three existing American news-agencies are The Associated Press, United Press associations (hereinafter referred to as UP), and International News Service (hereinafter referred to as INS).

"Of the news services supplied by these three, that of The Associated Press ranks in the forefront in public reputation and esteem. One reason x x x is that The Associated Press exceeds its competitors in expenditures for collecting and transmitting news, in the length of news report it furnishes, in physical facilities x x x in number and geographical distribution of newspaper supplying it with news of their localities x x x. A second reason is that the character of the organization x x x is a valuable guarantee that the promise and claim made by each news-agency—that it presents the news without any political or sectional bias—will in fact be fulfilled. A third reason x x x the name 'Associated Press' has long been regarded as synonymous with the highest standards of accurate, nonpartisan and comprehensive news reporting."

"Restrictions imposed by denial of AP membership and services are particularly burdensome because in that event the newspaper must rely on the services of UP alone or as supplemented by INS. Furthermore, it is forced to accept whatever terms are demanded by these agencies."

AP Gives Complete Coverage

"The good will attaching to the name 'Associated Press' is due, in part, to the fact that there has been long and continuous operation under this name."

"The ability of a newspaper to publish AP news is an important factor in winning and retaining reader acceptance, particularly in the case of a newspaper which has been newly launched. Conversely, a newspaper which is barred from AP news operates under a competitive disadvantage with AP members."

The government petition gave these comparative figures on the AP, UP and INS:

AP—Maintains offices in more than 250 cities of the world and 94 news bureaus in the United States; of the U. S. bureaus seven have staffs of 50 or more full-time employees, 5 staffs of 30 to 49, 26 from 10 to 29; its staff of 7,200 employees includes 1,940 full-time; it distributes basic news reports of 1,000,000 words every 24 hours; it spent approximately $12,000,000 in 1941 for the actual gathering and distribution of news reports; it serves more than 1,200 domestic member newspapers.

UP—Maintains 94 domestic and foreign bureaus of which 60 are in the United States; employs 1,326 full-time employees; only 9 of its 60 U. S. bureaus had staffs of over 9 full-time employees, two had staffs of over 29; furnishes news to approximately 900 newspapers in the U. S.; in 1941 spent $5,929,638 for gathering and distributing news to newspapers.

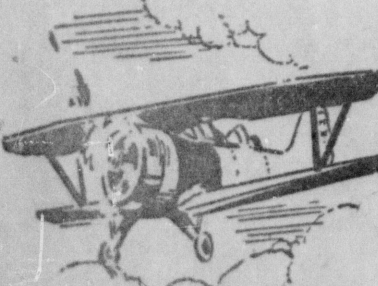

INS—In 1941 employed 382 full-time employees in New York and 81 other domestic bureaus only three of which had more than 9 employees; served approximately 325 domestic newspapers; 1941 expenditures for gathering news and its distribution to newspapers was $2,371,379.

Dispute That Held Up Construction on Texas-Illinois Line Settled

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 29—(AP)—A labor dispute which halted laying of a section of the Texas to Illinois oil pipeline was compromised sufficiently to allow the scheduling of resumption of work today, General Manager B. E. Hull of the War Emergency Pipeline, Inc., said.

Hull, who charged yesterday that armed labor unionists forced the stoppage, said no labor contract had been signed but that labor leaders had agreed to discuss their claims while work continued.

The pipeline executive said the contractor ordered 160 workers off the project to prevent violence when about 50 union men, mostly from Illinois, appeared late Thursday and ordered them to stop. He said "several of the union men had sixshooters which they made no effort to conceal."

The contractor hired non-union men after union locals in the area were unable to provide sufficient workers, Hull asserted.

Hull, in describing the band of men who ordered work stopped, said they were led by Evan Dale, president of the Carbonade, Ill., local of the International Hodcarriers, Building and Common Laborers of America (AFL). Union leaders were not available for comment.

Died In Idaho

Don C. Hussey received word Wednesday that Lou Zug had died at his home in Jerome, Idaho, where he had spent the past several years and was mayor of the town of Jerome. The Zug family lived where Mrs. Spangler now lives. The famous old time "Zug's Hill" was named after them. No further particulars are available at this writing.
